ABO-Group Environment Acquires Infrabureau Demey in Roeselare

- ABO-Group acquires the West Flemish company Infrabureau Demey, specialized in the design and coordination of infrastructure projects
- With this acquisition, ABO-Group strengthens its local presence in West Flanders

Through the acquisition of Infrabureau Demey, ABO-Group confirms its strategy to achieve growth in its home countries not only organically, but also through acquisitions of specialized companies that synergize with its core activities: soil, archaeology, and geotechnics.

Infrabureau Demey

The family business 'Infrabureau Demey', founded in 1964 and based in Roeselare, currently has around 25 employees and is led by Filip Demey and his wife Ellen Vanhoutte. "We have been delivering high-quality infrastructure projects in the West Flanders region for 60 years," says Filip Demey. "Our firm has experienced steady growth over the past decades, thanks to our loyal employees and good cooperation with our clients. Today marks a new milestone for our company, now together with ABO-Group. Supported by the group's expertise, such as that of sister company SWBO, we plan to accelerate this growth. We therefore look to the future with ABO-Group with optimism."

Filip Demey will remain the managing director.

ABO-Group

ABO-Group CEO Frank De Palmenaer: "It goes without saying that Demey's projects present an opportunity to realize synergies and economies of scale between various services within the ABO-Group. For example, I foresee a close collaboration between Demey and the previously acquired surveying company 'MEET HET'. Thanks to the expertise of both parties in 'BIM for Infra', ABO-Group can further develop in this domain. The use of this alternative form of design is growing worldwide and is seen as an important step towards more modern and smarter construction processes."
