HIGHLIGHTS

Equity markets in Europe and the US fell sharply in June with the Euro Stoxx 50® Total Return finishing the month down -8.8% and the S&P500® Total Return down -8.3%. Credit markets also widened significantly with iTraxx Crossover® (S37) moving to 580bps from 437bps at the end of May. Surprisingly, volatility markets increased only modestly, despite the large moves in credit and equities, and the market implied volatility measure VStoxx® moved from 25.3% to 29.8%. In June BG Fund was marginally down returning -0.38% (USD A class) for the month.

Over the first half of the year equity markets have dropped significantly. The S&P 500® has had its steepest percentage drop for the first six months since 1970, declining -19.96% on a total return basis and the Eurostoxx 50® Total Return has fallen -17.95%. Against this significantly negative backdrop, and with very challenging global political and economic conditions, BG Fund has returned -2.57% (USD A class) YTD. Positive attribution has come from trading strategies and volatility, while convertible bonds, risk arbitrage and special situations have been detractors particularly as risk spreads have come under pressure.

Notwithstanding the challenging start to 2022, BG Fund has returned +5.02% (USD A) to investors over the last 12 months and the investment team remain very constructive on outlook given the current and prospective opportunity set. The portfolio remains tightly hedged, delta neutral and long optionality, and we have been using the market dislocations to add to existing and establish new positions at very attractive entry points. The opportunity set is already very attractive and is likely to yield even more interesting opportunities in the near term, particularly in distressed situations and capital markets.
