

Spineway obtains 510(k) clearance from the FDA for its VEOS spinal fixation system

Spineway Group, a specialist in innovative implants for the treatment of severe spinal conditions, is pleased to announce the recent 510(k) clearance from the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for its VEOS Spinal Fixation System.

This clearance, which allows Spineway Group to market its VEOS system in the US, represents a significant achievement for the Group and reinforces its strategic approach to develop its business in the US market. This recognition also demonstrates the Group's commitment to provide innovative solutions to surgeons and to put the well-being of patients first.

Presentation at the NASS Congress in Los Angeles

This innovative medical device is presented at the North American Spine Society (NASS) Congress in Los Angeles until 21 October 2023.

The VEOS Spinal Fixation System is a complete platform that offers an innovative and versatile solution tailored to surgeons' needs. The VEOS platform is easy to use, fully modular and optimizes operational excellence in operating room.

This new offering enables surgeons to perform open, minimally invasive and percutaneous surgery (MIS) for the treatment of a wide range of spinal pathologies, from degenerative spine to complex surgery and deformities.

"We are very proud of this FDA clearance, which enables Spineway Group to take the first step in rolling out its new portfolio in the USA. This approval demonstrates our ability to develop innovative solutions for the treatment of spinal pathologies that perfectly meet the needs of surgeons and patients. » says Stéphane Le Roux, CEO of Spineway.
