

Kasper Kolding resigns, Anders Wall to take over as CFO

Today, GreenMobility has received notice from its CFO Kasper Kolding, who has decided to leave the company as of 31 December 2021.

Kasper will continue his duties until the 31 December, and will ensure a smooth transition of tasks and responsibilities. Kasper has been with GreenMobility since November 2019, and thus an important part of the growth of the company and development of our business.

Anders Wall, COO & Deputy-CEO, will become new CFO for GreenMobility, as a natural extension of his existing responsibilities of investor relations and financing. Allan Wheadon will at the same time be promoted as Head of Accounting.

GreenMobility will initiate a process to search for a new Head of Operation, to take over the operational responsibility across GreenMobility's cities and fleet of EV's. For now, Thomas Heltborg Juul, CEO, will assume that responsibility.

Based on the company's three must win battles; Commercialization, Simplification and Funding, GreenMobility has as a consequence decided to reduce its executive management board to two persons; Thomas Heltborg Juul and Anders Wall.
