Capgemini announces the departure of William Rozé from the Group

Paris, August 1, 2025 – Capgemini announced today that William Rozé, CEO of Capgemini Engineering and Group Executive Board member, has decided to leave the Group to pursue other projects.

Capgemini and William Rozé have agreed on William's departure, effective from July 31. William has relinquished his responsibilities within the Group and his successor will be announced in the coming weeks.

Aiman Ezzat, Chief Executive Officer of Capgemini commented: "I would like to thank William for his contribution to the Group in building Capgemini Engineering into the market leader that it is today. Notably, William helped to enable the integration of Altran and support the Group's ambition to become the global leader in Intelligent Industry."

William joined Capgemini in 2020, as a result of Capgemini's acquisition of Altran. He was appointed CEO of Capgemini Engineering in 2021.
