Quadiant (Euronext Paris: QDT), a leader in helping businesses create meaningful customer connections through digital and physical channels, announces it has expanded cloud hosting services to Japan and the UK, furthering its commitment to delivering secure, cutting-edge and scalable cloud-based business communication solutions to its customers across the globe. Quadiant is a trusted leader in Customer Communications Management (CCM) solutions for organizations of all sizes across regulated industries such as banking, utilities, insurance and healthcare. Data sovereignty is important for many companies as it ensures they retain full control and legal ownership over their sensitive information within the geographical boundaries of their jurisdictions. This control not only fosters trust among customers and partners by demonstrating a commitment to privacy but also enables companies to navigate complex compliance landscapes, mitigate risks and maintain the integrity of their operations.

"We are thrilled to expand our cloud offerings to customers in the UK and Japan, in line with our commitment to deliver leading business communication cloud solutions that empower organizations to connect with their customers in meaningful ways," said Chris Hartigan, chief solution officer, Intelligent Communication Automation, Quadiant. "The transition of Quadiant's software model from license to software-as-a-service has been a key component of our strategy. We remain dedicated to providing industry-leading, cloud-based solutions that are secure, efficient, compliant and scalable to drive business success."
