Arkéa renews its trust in Capgemini for a further 5 years

Paris, October 30, 2019 - The Arkéa Group, a major player in the banking and insurance sectors in France, has renewed its trust in Capgemini for the industrialization and automation of its IT infrastructure operations. The new contract is for a duration of five years.

The contract, signed between the Arkéa Group and Capgemini, covers all infrastructure technologies, from the end-user work environment through to application operations. It includes the support, development and integration of new services, and will allow the IT teams of the Arkéa Group's Innovation and Operations Division to free up time to focus on other strategic projects, particularly those related to innovation, an area in which the Arkéa Group has always placed focus.

Frédéric Laurent, Deputy Chief Executive Officer of Arkéa group, in charge of the Innovation and Operations Division, comments: "In Capgemini, the Arkéa Group has found a trusted partner involved in the entire service chain around our IT infrastructure. This is of critical importance to us as our partner has to perform in very demanding business conditions, serving millions of customers that require responsiveness, proximity and specialized skills. Arkéa also has many things in common with Capgemini, including our shared focus on innovation and agility, which is the driving force behind our activities."

Olivier Tarrit, Managing Director for Cloud Infrastructure Services at Capgemini in France explains: "We are particularly proud of the trust our client has placed in us. By selecting Capgemini for this major transformation project, the Arkéa Group knows that it can rely on an experienced and committed partner for the long term. It's also personally rewarding to the Capgemini team that our expertise in delivery, quality, and innovation in the field of infrastructure services is being renewed with Arkéa, which is a client that is constantly evolving to offer new services to its customers."
