Company Announcement No. 06

Pharma Equity Group's subsidiary (Reponex Pharmaceuticals A/S) has received notification from the European Patent Office (EPO) about the decision to grant their patent for drug compositions for promoting the healing of wounds (RNX-022).

Today's announcement signifies a significant milestone as the EPO has approved EP patent No. 3145533, encompassing Reponex' innovative treatment method. This method consists of topically applying a hydrogel containing granulocyte-macrophage colony-stimulating factor (GM-CSF), sucralfate, and hyaluronan to accelerate wound healing. The combination helps stimulating the proliferation of cells related to the healing process and tissue regeneration.

"We are very pleased that the EPO has now approved the patent application for our drug candidate RNX-022, allowing us to protect our product in such a crucial commercial domain," says Thomas Kaas Selsø, CEO of Pharma Equity Group A/S.

Wound healing represents a significant challenge for many individuals, necessitating the development of enhanced treatment methodologies to address the complexities and improve patient outcomes effectively. According to Grand View Research, the global wound treatment market was valued at USD 21.4 billion in 2022 and is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.15% from 2023 to 2030.

The patent is valid until 2035. With the attainment of full Supplementary Protection Certificate (SPC) extension, the validity will extend until 2040.
