It reflects the commitment of all our teams to implement a global approach that meets the requirements of our stakeholders, and in particular our customers. This ISO 9001:2015 certification is part of a broader program of continuous improvement of the company's processes, aimed at operational excellence to support our industrial development."*

The certified activities cover process development, materials development, production of isobutene and its derivatives, and their commercialization as ingredients for cosmetics or as sustainable fuels, in particular aviation fuels (SAF).
