Well-attended Capital Markets Day at Systemair in Skinnskatteberg

On January 17, Systemair held a Capital Markets Day in Skinnskatteberg. Investors and financial analysts were offered an overview of Systemair and the strategy going forward with a focus on sustainability, financial development, growth and profitability. The participants also received presentations on Systemair's products and solutions in residential ventilation and control technology.

The financial targets for growth, profitability, financial strength and share dividends were reinforced and presented together with strategic activities to achieve the targets.

The focus was on fundamental factors such as having an attractive offer based on standardization and developing and strengthening relationships with customers and partners. Together with an efficient business operation characterized by continuous improvements, a sustainable and future-proofed operation and a strong position that benefits from structural growth sums up Systemair's message.

The presentations were given by Roland Kasper CEO, Anders Ulff CFO, Lee Morgan Global Sustainability Manager and Janni Weber VP M&A and concluded with a Q&A session.
